

Research Precedents

Project:

In design, precedents are similar or related projects that designers use to inspire and/or drive their work. For this brief you will be able to elect to study an architecture/interior architecture precedent, a graphic design precedent, or an industrial design precedent. Your TA will then give you a project from your chosen category which you will research on your phone.

Instructions:

Find four images (or one if it is a logo) that you think encapsulate your precedent.

Write three sentences about your precedent.

Come up with three terms to define your precedent.

Find the year completed and the location of your precedent.

Deliverable(s):

Upload your images and text to the link in the SDC app.
